RED ADVANCE

EAST PRUSSIARESERVES HURLED

FOR WARSAW

BY W. W. HERCHER
London, Tuesday, Sept. 12 (AP)—Russian troops in one of the fiercest struggles of the war yesterday drove to within two and one-half miles of Lomza, gateway to lower German East Prussia, and Moscow announced officially early today that Red army patrols had crossed from Lithuania into that imperiled Nazi province.

Berlin also announced that the Russians had penetrated German lines in a "concentrated assault" on Warsaw's eastern suburbs, 75 miles southwest of the Narw river stronghold of Lomza, and said that in southern Poland other Soviet troops in a fresh offensive aimed at northern Hungary had captured the fortress town of Krosno in the East Beskide chain of the Carpathian mountains.

Patrols Cross Border
The Soviet midnight communication telling of the entry into East Prussia came a few hours after Allied headquarters had announced that American troops now were fighting inside western Germany. It coincided with reports from both Berlin and Moscow that three powerful Red armies were on the verge of unleashing new offensives on a 300-mile front opposite East Prussia, extending from northern Poland up to the Baltic Sea.

Moscow said that the patrols had crossed the Sesepe river border between Lithuania and East Prussia, "gathered valuable information" on German troop dispositions, and then returned safely.

For several days unofficial reports have told of these patrol stabs, made while Gen. Ivan Cherniakhovsky's Third White Russian army amassed men and material for a new drive.

Hell For Huns
In the flaming sector northeast of Warsaw the Russians were throwing in masses of men backed by swarms of tanks and covered by terrific artillery barrages and plane bombardments, Berlin said. One German front reporter was quoted as saying the drive was launched "by such hellish artillery fire that it was a relief when Soviet infantry and tanks at last attacked." He added: "I cannot be described in words what German grenadiers endured here."

Lomza, 20 miles south of Germany's East Prussian border, appeared about to fall to the Russians, whom Moscow said captured 30 localities on three sides of the bastion. These included Konarzeye, two and one-half miles to the southwest, Gielczyn, three miles south, Przewo, seven miles southeast, and Sulki, seven miles on the west.

The capture of the Sulki cut the railway between Lomza and Ostroleka, and put the Russians only four miles south of Nowogrod, which, like Lomza, is an important Narw crossing point on the roads to East Prussia's Masurian lakes, first World War battlefield.

Convoy Of 52 Jap
War Vessels Sunk
In Philippines Raid

BY WILLIAM L. WORDEN
U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, Sept. 11 (AP)—The Navy announced today its first carrier aircraft raid on Mindanao Sept. 8 (West Longitude U. S. Time), including the bombing of five airfields and the sinking of an entire Japanese convoy of 52 vessels off the Minatuan Bay by fleet carrier and destroyers.

Japanese losses also included aircraft shot down, 60 destroyed.

CITY EMPLOYEES
GIVEN $141,891
Supreme Court Rules Against Detroit In Economy Lawsuit

Lansing, Sept. 11 (AP)—The state supreme court today awarded 1,584 employees of the city of Detroit $141,891 which they had been required to "contribute" to the city's empty coffers in the depression days of 1932.

The employees sued for the sum through the Detroit Municipal Employees Association and won in the Wayne county circuit court. The supreme court held that the city ordinance, ordered by city ordinance in May and June of 1932 when another $8,000 employees were dismissed for economic reasons, was described in the ordinance as an employee contribution but actually was a method of withholding half of the employees' pay. Since the city later paid back half of the withheld sum, the court said, the statute of limitations could not block a suit for repayment of the remainder.

Four former members of the Detroit police department were ordered reinstated to their posts by the supreme court. They were Frank McKeon, Ralph Edom, Earl Berry and Edward A. Carberry.

The four were among 33 officers accused of wrongdoing by the Ferguson grand jury investigating crime and corruption in Wayne county. Charges against all 33 were dismissed in court or they were acquitted, but a police trial board discharged them from the force. Former Circuit Judge Lester S. Moll granted 21 of them rights to appeal on the grounds their trials were unfair and arbitrary.

Axis Plans Flight
In Aegean Islands

Ankara, Sept. 11 (AP)—Turkish newspapers said today that Germans are blowing up ammunition depots and fuel dumps in the Aegean Islands preparatory to evacuation.

A dispatch from Izmir (Smyrna) said Greek motor boats have been coming and going between the island of Samos and the Turkish mainland unhindered.

on the ground, 18 ships and many sampans destroyed in Davao Gulf, Sarangani Bay, and Cagayan and in the Surigao Bay, at least two ships and 17 sampans were set afire.

The Navy said the United States aircraft losses were light, and there was no damage to surface ships.

Carrier bombers struck enemy fields at Del Monte, Valencia, Cayan, Buayan and Davao. They met five enemy planes over Cayan, one over Davao, two near carriers and shooting down all of them.

The remaining 60 destroyed on the ground were caught at various airfields as American planes also hit waterfront installations at Matina, Cayan, Surigao, plus barracks, warehouses and tankers.

The Japanese convoy was sighted off Hinatuan Bay. Of these 32 were loaded cargo ships and 20 were sampans. Our aircraft carriers, destroyers and cruisers attacked and sank them all.

Additional enemy shipping found in bays and gulfs and attacked included 16 small cargo ships, one medium cargo ship, one patrol craft, and 17 sampans set afire.

A fleet spokesman declared the U. S. forces were part of the Third fleet, commanded by Adm. William S. Halsey, Jr.

ATTACK ON BIAK

American Base

General Headquarters, Southwest Pacific, Tuesday, Sept. 12 (AP)—A Japanese attempt to raid American-held Biak Island, off Dutch New Guinea, was frustrated Saturday when Black Widow night fighters shot down two of 10 assaulting planes, headquarters announced today.

American Liberators blasted Japanese airmen on Celebes Saturday, again encountering no aerial opposition.

The previous day, American planes dropped a 180-ton load of explosives on Celebes, the heaviest unloaded on that major Japanese base.

Allied air patrols bombed and hit two 7,000-ton Japanese freighters off Zamboanga Saturday night. (This second city of Mindanao Island lies about 230 miles west of Davao which was one of several targets on the island's east coast struck earlier in the day in an American carrier task force raid.)

Rome, Sept. 11 (AP)—The U. S. Third and Seventh armies completed a junction today in eastern France, sealing off German troops in the central region, including possibly 20,000 in the Dijon area. The vanguards of the two armies met at a point described officially here as "an undesignated spot" 28 days after Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch's Seventh army invaded southern France.

(A field dispatch from Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third army said the junction was made in the vicinity of Sombernon, 15 miles west of Dijon.)

UNION TO SEEK
30-HOUR WEEKNo-Strike Pledge Gets Cheers And Boos At UAW Convention

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 11 (AP)—Resolutions demanding that the 30-hour week be written into all contracts immediately with industry and others for and against the no-strike pledge of the union were prepared for presentation today at the United Automobile Workers (CIO) opened their ninth annual convention here.

Indications of an impending bitter battle over a no-strike pledge mounted today as a mixture of cheers and boos greeted mention of the pledge by R. J. Thomas, UAW-CIO president in a convention address this afternoon.

Thomas, who recently visited the European battlefields said "I pledged to the GIs that we would continue to furnish tools of war and I believe American workmen agree with me on that."

The UAW president reaffirmed his union's support of President Roosevelt and termed Governor Thomas E. Dewey "the candidate of big business and the mouthpiece of Herbert Hoover."

First U. S. Army
Only 55 Miles
From The Rhine

BY WILLIAM F. BONI

Supreme Headquarters, Allied Expeditionary Force, Tuesday, Sept. 12 (AP)—The rampaging First U. S. army burst into Hitler's inner fortress of Germany yesterday and plowed ahead for five miles into the Reich, meeting the enemy on his home soil north of the frontier city of Trier—55 miles from the Rhine and the great industrial city of Coblenz.

An artillery barrage first chewed up the German positions and then in "reasonable strength"—that was the official language—the doughboys crossed over to strike the blow for which the United Nations long had waited.

Maginot Line Taken
It was a black day for German arms, for the Third U. S. army seized a great part of the old French Maginot line intact, and was breaking the last German line of defense on French soil—the Moselle River positions.

The British Second army broke across the frontier of Holland and was bound for the weakest link in the 400 miles of the west wall—the thin line of pillboxes, tank traps and forts stretching south from the German city of Kleve across the shortest route to Berlin.

Other elements of the First army already were fighting through the minefields of the Siegfried line south of the key city of Aachen, little more than eight miles from Germany's frontier, and were blasting fortifications inside the Reich with heavy artillery.

Headed For Saar
The Third army, driving over Lorraine's hills, captured with guns intact the fortress of Aumetz, 22 miles northwest of Metz and three miles from Luxembourg, whose capital fell today to a First army column now pressing east toward Germany's industrial basin of the Saar.

Other Third army forces, after capturing ancient Fort Pont St. Vincent six miles south of Nancy, hammered across the Moselle River on a broad front of several

BUCKLEY BEGINS
TERM IN PRISON

Former Detroit Solon,
Convicted Of Graft,
Gives Himself Up

Jackson, Sept. 11 (AP)—William G. Buckley, former state representative from Detroit convicted of participating in legislative graft conspiracy, surrendered unexpectedly at the state prison of Southern Michigan today, to begin serving a term of three to five years.

Buckley had been at liberty on bond, along with 15 others convicted with him in July at Mason, following the filing of motions for a new trial, which now are pending.

Charles Watson, prison record clerk, said Buckley explained he considered the motion was "only a formality." At Detroit, George S. Fitzgerald, Buckley's attorney, when advised of Buckley's surrender, said "in view of all the circumstances as Buckley outlined them to me, he probably did the best thing."

The former legislator, who gave up his seat in the house of representatives after an Igham county circuit court jury convicted him of accepting bribes and conspiracy, was asked concerning reports that he was to have appeared today at Lansing as a witness before Circuit Judge Leland W. Carr's one-man grand jury, which caused his arrest. Buckley sent word from his quarantine cell that "I was not personally served" with a grand jury subpoena.

New York, Sept. 11 (AP)—The Brussels radio said today that the Belgian chamber of representatives, lower house of parliament, would hold its first meeting in the liberated capital on Sept. 19.

FRITZ WHIPPED IN AIR BATTLE
Americans Destroy 175
Nazi Planes, Lose
48 Bombers

BY ERNEST AGNEW
London, Tuesday, Sept. 12 (AP)—U. S. Eighth Air Force fighters and heavy bombers trapped and beat the German air force yesterday, destroying 175 Nazi planes in one of the fiercest air battles ever fought over Europe.

It was the heaviest Luftwaffe loss in more than a year and one which dug deeply into the air reserves which the enemy has been carefully holding back until now for the final battle of Germany.

Of the Germans destroyed, American fighters shot down 116, the greatest number ever shot down by fighters alone in a single day, while the heavy bombers knocked down another 17, and 42 were destroyed on their air-dromes.

Indicating the extent of the opposition, 48 of the American heavy bombers and 29 fighters failed to return. The bomber losses were the heaviest since April 29 when 63 failed to come home from a raid on Berlin.

Hitler Jew-Baiter
Sent To Gallows
For Part In Plot

BY WADE WERNER
London, Sept. 11 (AP)—Adolf Hitler, who recently hanged one of his field marshals, has ordered his No. 2 Jew-baiter, his former ambassador to Mussolini's Rome, and five other Germans to the gallows for the same offense—participation in the July 20 plot to kill him.

The new penalties were disclosed as the Germans stepped up total mobilization to defend the homeland.

Berlin radio announced that the seven men had been convicted by a people's court, and named them as:

Dapper Count Wolf Hendrick von Helldorf, who ranked second only to Julius Streicher as a Jew-baiter during the heyday of Jewish persecution; Ulrich von Hassell, once Nazi ambassador to Rome; Dr. Karl F. Goerdeler, former mayor of Leipzig and former German minister of economics; Trott Zu Solz, onetime secretary in the ministry of foreign affairs; Paul Lejeune-Jung, former deputy; Wilhelm Leuschner, former Hessian minister of the interior, and Josef Wirmer, an attorney.

At least 33 apparently legitimate reports of attacks have been received in the last 12 days and a dozen or so more—including two over the week end—have been sifted and dubbed "nerves" by police and physicians.

WAR LEADERS IN QUEBEC TO
PLAN VICTORYSTALIN TOO BUSY,
BUT WILL BE IN
ON FINALE

BY DOUGLAS E. CORNELL
Quebec, Sept. 11 (AP)—Within the weathered stone ramparts of Quebec's ancient capital, President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill of Britain began forging tonight the strategy for final victory over Japan.

Absent from their deliberations was that third leader of the United Nations triumvirate, Premier Joseph Stalin of Russia—whose armies are not at war with Japan.

No Hope for Tokyo
He had been invited to a conference which apparently had to concern itself primarily with the battle of the Pacific. But the fact that he sent back word that he was too busy directing offensives on multiple fronts to leave "the direction of the army for the shortest period" offered no great assurances to Japan.

Stalin did not close the door to future participation in the Pacific war. A conference spokesman reported the president and prime minister "thoroughly understood, the premier's message and that he was 'absent on the field of duty'."

Not since they concluded significant discussions last December, at Cairo and Teheran, had Roosevelt and Churchill met for one of their periodic war councils. Then, with Stalin's counsel, they had seated the plans for the powerful invasions which have driven Germany to the point of utter defeat.

Military Chiefs Present
The 1944 Quebec conference therefore was in order. Strong measures against Japan warranted attention.

This eighth Roosevelt-Churchill meeting Early described as "largely if not exclusively a military conference."

For that reason its decisions are not likely to be made known until they are carried into action on fighting fronts. And for that purpose, as in the past, the two leaders brought to Quebec with them their highest military, naval and air commanders, and their after tier of officials for consultations on the lower levels.

While the chiefs of staff conferred in the picturesque Chateau Frontenac, protected from intrusion by soldiers and scarlet-coated mounted police, Roosevelt and Churchill held their discussions at the nearby citadel on the heights towering over the St. Lawrence river.

The chief executive and his British ally arrived by special trains in mid-morning—Mr. Roosevelt from Halifax, where he ended an Atlantic crossing yesterday.

He Was Seaside

Why Rock the Boat?

SOME of President Roosevelt's original brain-trusters, although shoved temporarily into the background, continue to bob up to embarrass the administration. William C. Bullitt, one of the president's early ambassadors to Soviet Russia, although already discredited in most quarters, is using his remaining influence in an effort to rock the international boat, in the most critical period of international negotiations for the establishment of lasting peace, when World War II is concluded.

Marquis Childs, in a recent column, pays his respects to this international trouble maker and to columnists and radio commentators, who are constantly seeking to arouse suspicion in the hearts of the people of the United States as to honesty of Russia's intentions toward the rest of the world.

At a time when most unprejudiced international authorities believe that Joseph Stalin will cooperate to bring about a reasonable adjustment of power in Europe, it is not helping the cause of permanent international peace to drag out events of the dead past. It is a time, instead when we must convince the most powerful nation in Europe today, of the sincerity of our friendship and of our honest desire to deal fairly with all nations of the world.

It is this pinkish millionaire Bullitt, and others of his stripe, who insist on rocking the boat when the waves are highest, to constitute the greatest danger to the achievement of permanent international peace.

Plan Pulpwood Drive

THE American Newspaper Publishers association has announced plans for a new campaign to stimulate the cutting of pulpwood this fall and winter. The program will include a paid advertising campaign and other promotional activities, such as those that brought good results last year.

Pulpwood is the basic material, of course, in the production of paper, now desperately needed for making containers for shells, blood plasma and other goods. Paper has a multitude of important uses in wartime, and the need for it is so great at this time that is now rated as one of the three top critical items.

Last year's campaign demonstrated that the pulpwood is available and can be gotten out of the woods despite the manpower shortage. Prices paid for pulpwood are at all-time high levels. Particularly is this true in the case of poplar, once regarded as a scrub wood. City folks, as well as farmers, have made nice stakes in the cutting of pulpwood, and in view of the fact that prices still remain attractive they will be out in the woods again whenever they have time off from their regular duties.

Government Lags Behind

WHILE Delta county government will not be affected, the people of all of Michigan will be called upon to vote on the Wayne County home rule amendment proposal in the statewide election in November.

The amendment to the constitution is required so that the people of Wayne may choose the kind of county government they want. Wayne county, which is mostly Detroit, the world's automobile center, has drastically changed since the state constitution was adopted.

How Wayne county's government has been outmoded by the industrial and political changes is explained by the Detroit News as follows:

In 1837, Wayne County had a population of 23,000. Detroit already had a sewer and water system, but less than 10 years before the water supply still was being drawn in buckets from the river. Roads and streets were mud tracks. The Central Railroad had been built as far as Ypsilanti but, apart from that, the commerce of city and county chiefly was carried by lake.

There are still 400 of Michigan's 83 counties with population no greater than was Wayne's in 1837. The present constitutional form of county government presumably continues to meet their needs and perhaps those of the other rural counties.

But to assert that this county government form remains adequate to the needs of an industrial county now of over 2,000,000 population is foolish on its face. This present form of government was meant for a community in which everyone knew practically everyone else and a multiplicity of elective offices placed no undue burden on the voter.

For a community like present-day Wayne County, such a government becomes a hopeless hodgepodge. The supervisors have grown to be a body larger than most state legislatures. No voter could undertake to name them, much less have an intelligent opinion of their services. No more can the voter have much idea of how to vote for county clerk, surveyor, drain commissioner or auditor. He can make neither head nor tail of such a government, for in literal truth it has no head.

What modern Wayne County needs, to obtain responsive and responsible government, is a simplified form such as the Home Rule amendment proposes, with a single executive and a small council. Such a government can be held to the standards of efficiency and economy that modern Wayne County must have for its future growth and prosperity.

Advice from Moscow

THE people of Spain are being urged in radio broadcasts from Moscow to overthrow Generalissimo Franco, who installed himself as dictator of that country after a bloody revolt against a government established by a vote of the electorate.

While the Allies have been fighting desperately to exterminate totalitarianism from Europe and Asia, they have allowed Franco and his crowd to enjoy the fruits of their illegal conquest. After the war is over, unless something is done about it, there will be an island of Fascism still remaining in Europe, maintained by force of arms against the will of the majority of the people.

The victory over tyranny and aggression can never be complete unless the people of Spain are given the opportunity to again go to the polls and vote for the kind of government they want. There can be no room for dictators in the postwar world.

Straits Traffic Gains

VEHICULAR traffic over the Straits of Mackinac during the first seven months of this year increased 8.6 per cent over the volume for the corresponding period last year.

The state highway department points out, however, that this year's traffic was 60.2 per cent less than in the same period in 1942. After Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7, 1941, we did not realize how war would place restrictions on our customary peacetime activities. Vacation travel continued the next year, and it was not until the 1943 season that the rationing of gasoline and tires began having its drastic effect upon vacation travel.

The slight gain recorded this year indicates that persons who denied themselves vacation trips in 1943 contrived in some manner to obtain enough gasoline this year. While automobile travel has increased only slightly, however, there has been a marked rise in train and bus traffic during the past couple years. This explains why the well known resorts of Michigan and Wisconsin have been enjoying highly satisfactory patronage during the current season.

THIS IS NO FAIRY TALE (Marquette Eagle-Star)

Once upon a time a certain young man in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan whose chief ambition was along political lines and who debated as to whether he should toss his future into the lap of the Republican party, or whether he should join ranks with the Democrats who subsequently became New Dealers.

It was a momentous decision but he finally made it—and the Democrats won. So he ran for office as a Democrat and lost but his party won, and there's where he got his start.

Before long he landed a job as one of the secretaries to the governor of Michigan, but the governor was a one-termer and the young man's job didn't last long. However, that was about three terms ago, if you understand what we mean, and having been labeled a good Democrat by virtue of being a Democratic governor's secretary, it wasn't hard for him to land on the federal payroll.

Well, he went from one government job to another; and finally the war broke out and with it came the birth of various war agencies.

To make a long story short, we now find the same young man giving out interviews in which he tells that the War Manpower Commission plans a special campaign for 3,600 workers in the Upper Peninsula because of the critical need for pulpwood and lumber.

What does he have to do with pulpwood and lumber? you may ask. You don't have to know the difference between a hemlock and maple to qualify for such a job, dear reader. You have to know your way around in politics. And the young man to whom we refer doubtless does know his way around, for he is no less than chief of field operations for Michigan for the War Manpower Commission. As such he is entitled to confer with major generals and even such individuals as district chiefs of the United States Employment Service.

To get back to the main theme, there's a moral to this story. The moral is that once the political bug bites a person he is likely to remain incurable until another party takes control. And then, of course, the cure is automatic. That's the kind of cure the Republicans are subscribing for the three-termers in Washington, whose attack has been more severe. He is afflicted with indispensability.

The Round Table

BY RAYMOND MOLEY

Mr. Wendell Willkie has a trick of arguing which is familiar to juries in every hamlet in the land. It can best be shown by a simple series of letters. The lawyer with this Willkie trick thunders to the jury, "The witness for the other side says X." Then, a few minutes later, he adds something to what the witness says and shouts, "I cannot believe that XY is true."

Moley

Since no one can deny X, this trick enables the lawyer to fill the jury's mind with a proposition which he, not the opposition, has created.

—SETS UP STRAW MAN—

This method of arguing is not the old device of setting up straw men and knocking them down. Its method is to cover a man with straw and then to try to convince the people that nothing but a straw stack is there.

Let us see how Mr. Willkie does this in a current article in Collier's in which he denounces both parties, their candidates and platforms. He is talking about "sovereignty," a word used by both parties in describing our participation in an international organization. Mr. Willkie quotes Mr. Dewey's "America will participate with other sovereign nations" and so forth. He next quotes Mr. Roosevelt's words "to use the armed force of the sovereign nations." These statements Mr. Willkie then interprets as follows: "We are jealously to guard our sovereignty." Thus, he adds the horrid word "jealously" to his opponent's statements.

Later he restates what they have said in a still more extreme form. "When every party to a prepared agreement stands pat and refuses to yield any individual right or privilege," he observes, "there is no agreement." In short, he drops the word "sovereignty" and begins pummeling his own words. Whereupon Mr. Willkie delivers a long sermon, not against sovereignty or Dewey or Roosevelt, but against "jealousy," "stand-patism" and "selfishness."

—SNEERS AT POLITICIANS—

This device to put an opponent in a bad light is one of the oldest and easiest tricks in the politicians' repertory. And yet, Mr. Willkie begins his article by sneering at politicians.

The argument about sovereignty can be cleared up by a simple definition of the word, which Mr. Willkie either does not know or which he pretends not to know. The most eminent authority on political theory in America, Professor F. W. Coker of Yale, gives this one: "In international law, sovereignty is generally held to be an essential qualification for full membership in the family of nations." So, sovereignty is the very quality that enables a nation to participate in a peace organization. If the nation were not sovereign, it would have no power to join a league or association. It could not make a contract of itself.

When we say that a man should remain free, we do not mean that he cannot marry. The right to make contractual obligations is the essence of freedom. And the right of sovereignty is the very quality which enables a nation to do what Mr. Willkie wants it, in his torrents of words, Mr. Willkie has ever specifically said what he wants.

Helicopter (borrowed from the French helicopter) from the Greek combining form helico, "a spiral," plus pteron, "wing." In all words formed from helico, the first syllable is pronounced "hell," to rhyme with "hell." The word helicopter, then, must be pronounced: HEL-ll-KOP-ter.

Now there is another Greek combining form, helio, that means "the sun." And in all words deriving from helio, the first syllable is pronounced "hee," as in heliotrope, heliograph, helium, heliotherapy, etc.

Since the mispronunciation "HEE-ll-kop-ter" suggests that helicopter is formed from heli, "the sun," plus "copter" (there is no such word or combining form), it is my earnest recommendation that my readers, teachers and airmen especially, join me in emphasizing the advisability of giving the word helicopter the only pronunciation that is sanctioned. Say: HEL-ll-KOP-ter

NOTRE DAME DE PARIS, famous cathedral (1163-1240), situated at the east end of the Ile de la Cite (eel duh la see-TAY), an island of the Seine in the heart of Paris. The name of the cathedral means "Our Lady of Paris." The correct French pronunciation is: NAW-truh dah duh pa-REE.

JOSEPH PIERRE KOENIG, lieutenant general in command of French forces of the interior. To pronounce the "oe" of Koenig, purse the lips as if to say "oh," and, without moving the lips, say "eh," the short "e" sound, represented by the Colby symbol: (oe). Say: zho-ZEF p'yair K(OE)-nig.

BUCHAREST, capital of Rumania. Caution. In the English pronunciation, the main accent falls on the third syllable, thus: BYOO-kuh-REST. The Rumanian form is Bucuresti. The "u's" are "oo" as in "book, cook." Say: boo-koo-RESHT.

EDOUARD HERRIOT, president of French Chamber of Deputies, 1936-1940. The "a" of Edouard is flat as in "carrot." Say: ey-DWAR air-YOE.

IMPORTANT MONTH — The thirty-day period from September 15 to October 15 is the period for mailing Christmas gifts to the man and woman in service overseas.

Dunathan

Remember all the time you used to spend shopping for Christmas gifts for him and for her? Well, this year start out with a definite idea in mind of what you want, make the shopping trip snappy, and spend more time on preparing the parcel for shipment.

The mailing season to overseas forces is going to be the biggest in history, Uncle Sam says. So help out by getting that well-wrapped package in the mail early.

WHAT THEY WANT — Unofficial surveys of servicemen at service organizations show that servicemen everywhere will welcome the following gifts: Letters, snapshots, pocket-size books and games, film, home-town newspapers, playing cards.

Other things on the list which may be sent almost anywhere are: Flashlights, fountain pens, stationery, billfolds, lighters, pipe tobacco and cleaners, socks, toothpaste and shaving soap.

About the only thing among the edibles that is recommended to send to that service man or woman in the Pacific area is hard candy. It's the heat and the distance that will do it even the best prepared soft candies or other goodies.

For the woman in service overseas there is perhaps more of a selection. She still wants sheer stockings, frilly nighties, lingerie—although the last must be regulation tailored. Stick perfumes and cream colognes, talcum, lipstick, face powder, rouge and nail polish will be welcomed. Foot sticks and foot cream will be welcomed by the nurses and others who walk a lot.

Servicemen also would like bobby pins, hair pins, shampoos, hair nets and waving lotions. Besides this, of course, are the standbys of magazines, snapshots, letters, and edibles such as candy, nuts and fruits.

WELL PACKAGED — Here are the government's rules for overseas mailing.

Packages must not be over five pounds in weight, nor more than 15 inches long, nor more than 16 inches in length and girth combined. This about the size of an ordinary shoe box.

Only one package may be sent by or on behalf of the same person or concern to or for the same soldier in one week during the mailing period.

The package should be marked "Christmas Parcel" and a label not resembling a postage stamp or standardized boxes for mailing are being sold in many of the shops. But if you wish you can make your own container from corrugated fiberboard cartons which you can obtain from the grocer. The box should be tied firmly with strong twine, strong gummed paper tape, or both.

The address should be typewritten or printed plainly in waterproof ink. A duplicate address and return address should be placed inside the box.

The destination and address should include the rank and full name, serial number, service organization and unit of the service person. It should also include the

Washington—The public works administration today rescinded a $3,500,000 allotment to the Escanaba, Iron Mountain and Western railroad for the construction of a concrete ore dock at Escanaba, because the company decided to repair two existing docks instead of building a new one.

Two special proposals designed to raise a fund for financing a program of relief work in Delta county were rejected by voters in the primary election. In each case the vote was about two to one against the proposal.

Gladstone—A city bond issue of $24,000 to purchase materials for water works improvement projects was approved by voters Tuesday. With only taxpayers balloting, the vote was 616 to 374.

20 Years Ago—1924

Seventy-four members have signed up in the new St. Joseph Athletic association, formed to promote the school's interest in sports. Officers elected were: Victor Blomstrom, president; Leo Brunell, vice president; Norbert Valind, secretary and Vernon Paquet, treasurer.

Manistique—Lack of interest in the election was reflected in the fact that only 929 votes were cast although 2,300 are registered. Laura A. Williams, renominated for county treasurer, received the largest number of votes among the county officials.

Drilling for iron ore immediately south of the city will be started in 10 days. Contract for the diamond drill work has been awarded to the Longyear company of Minneapolis and Marquette.

Operations will begin as soon as the machinery can be delivered. More teachers were necessary in Escanaba public schools when the enrollment showed 2,319 pupils with more registered to come later.

proper Army Post Office or Fleet Post Office number and the port from which it will leave. The return address should be complete.

ON TABOO LIST—Postage on all parcels must be fully prepaid—fourth class on parcels over eight ounces, third class under that weight.

Many articles are strictly taboo for mailing: Perishable foods, insecticides, weapons, poisons and inflammables like matches and lighter fluids.

IT'S A PROBLEM —The job of shopping for G. I. Joe and G. I. Jane is a tough one. But the work of creating an interesting little gift package to conform to the regulation size is still more of a headache.

Best way to do is to start shopping early and do plenty of planning. Start with a list and put down all the things you think you might like to purchase for the man or woman in service who is to be the recipient. This will be the trick. This will be the task of weeding out all the things that obviously cannot be included.

With the boiled down list start the shopping tour. It is wise always, of course, to think of the individual and his likes and dislikes. For the boy or girl away from home (except that they be located in the Central and South Pacific) who you recall as having a sweet tooth, be sure and include candies in the gift package.

IT WON'T MATTER—Even if war in Europe should end during the special Christmas overseas mailing campaign, keep the holiday packages rolling. They will still be there to receive them.

When the war ends demobilization will not be an overnight affair. And besides there is the vast theater of war in the Pacific and on other fronts where the battle will go on.

Plan the little package as if it were a "Christmas at home" for your boy and girl overseas—and perhaps by next Christmas they will be back for the real thing.

THE LYONS DEN

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK—Finance Dept.: Two years ago five men formed a betting pool in which each named the date on which he thought the war in Europe would end, winner to be the one whose selection comes closest to V-Day. Four of these five already have lost. They are John O'Hara, Alfred Crown of Film Classics, Phil Dunne and Kenneth MacGowan, the producer. . . . The fifth, who selected Oct. 30, is Col. Jock Whitney, who was captured by the Nazis a few days ago.

LABOR DEPT.: The regional office of the War Manpower Commission, in an attempt to relieve the critical farm-labor shortage, sent an appeal to the ILGWU, suggesting that the needle-trade workers spend their vacations by working as fruit pickers. "The needle-trade workers," read the WMC appeal, "have shown great skill at picking fruits and vegetables, because of the manual dexterity developed at their needle-trade jobs." . . . David Dubinsky, head of the ILGWU, sent this report to the union's newspaper, "Justice," recommending this heading for the story: "As They Sew, So Do They Reap."

MOVIES: At one of the Hollywood studios the entrance hall leading to the offices where the scenarists work carries this sign: "WRITERS," followed by the warning, "Being Hungarian Is Not Enough."

DANCING DEPT.: Irene Castle brought her 15-year-old son to the Stock Club last night, and danced with him. She introduced him to Billy Riordan, her onetime dancing partner: "I want my old dancing partner to meet my new one." . . . The tall youngster shuffled along the dance floor reluctantly, and finally complained: "But Mother, I don't like to dance. What'll they think of me at Culver Military Academy?"

FASHION NOTE: "Foxy" Sondheim, the fashion designer, suffers from hay fever and was in an oxygen tent the day before yesterday. Yesterday, nevertheless, she appeared at El Morocco. . . . "Why did you come here?" Mrs. Sondheim was asked. . . . "I had to," she explained. "I had a reservation."

LOCAL NEWS: The water colors by Adolf Dehm, Reginald Marsh, David Fredenthal and Millard Sheets, loaned by Standard Oil for exhibition at the Brooklyn Museum, are just the prelude to a big story of Oil, to be done by American artists. . . . Donald Wayne of OWI, an authority on Thomas Wolfe, has been hired as a consultant on the movie version of Wolfe's "Look Homeward, Angel." . . . The courts may have to decide the ownership of the dog left by Tommy Manville's mother, which was traced to a home in upstate New York, where the new owner refuses to surrender it. Mrs. Alsop, who traced the dog, registered its ownership in London and Paris, and had left it at Mrs. Manville's while she went to Europe. . . . Gags from this column are being used as toppings by the pros on the "Can You Top This?" radio show.

WALL ST. DEPT.: At Lindy's some radio people were reminiscing about the days when Leo Lindy made some small investments in stocks and watched these investments carefully. This was at the time when Bruno Hauptmann awaited execution and received a last-minute stay. On the night of the scheduled execution, Goodman Ace entered Lindy's and found the restaurateur studying the Stock Exchange reports "Hello, Goody," Lindy greeted him. "Tell me—did Hauptmann burn yet?" . . . "Not yet," Ace replied, and added "You and your damn General Electric."

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

(Lt. Col. Robert S. Allen now on active service with the Army)

Washington — Railroad moguls can scarcely conceal their joy over Col. J. Monroe ("Rowboat") Johnson, director of the Office of Defense Transportation.

Known in his home State of South Carolina more for his operation of fishing boats than big-time transportation, "Rowboat" is very versatile. He now suits the railroads perfectly.

Here is the latest inside story of his operations.

Before Attorney General Biddle filed his anti-trust suit against Western Railroads, "Rowboat" Johnson pulled every possible wire to block the suit. Backstage, he howled vociferously, even at the White House. But the suit got FDR's blessing, and was filed.

This, however, did not stop Johnson. Hearing that Attorney General Biddle was holding conferences on the West Coast, "Rowboat" demanded that the Office of War Information force Biddle to clear with OWI in advance every statement he made to the press. With the Attorney General moving quickly from city to city and speaking extemporaneously in answer to newspaper questions, this obviously was impossible. So OWI turned Johnson down.

Later, when Wendell Berge, Assistant Attorney General in charge of trust-busting, left for a series of West Coast speeches, he took the precaution to submit his speeches in advance to OWI, and OWI sent them on to ODT and Johnson's desk.

When "Rowboat" saw them, he hit the ceiling. He even went to the extreme length of demanding that Berge make no reference whatsoever to the railroad anti-trust suit. Johnson took this stand despite the fact that the suit already had been filed, was a matter of court record, and was the official policy of the Roosevelt Administration.

Naturally, the Justice Department refused to clamp this ban on Berge. Whereupon "Rowboat" tried to play his trump card with Elmer Davis. He demanded that Davis must forbid Berge to make any reference to the anti-trust case. Davis, however, informed Johnson that it was not OWI's business to censor free and fair discussion of vital U. S. economic problems.

"Rowboat" failed. But the railroads are appreciative of his efforts just the same.

—REBOLT AGAINST LEWIS— Bushy-browed John L. Lewis faces the beginning of a real fight as the United Mine Workers meet in Cincinnati. Lewis probably will not be ousted as president this time, but revolt is growing against the heavy-handed gentleman who has ruled the miners for more than two decades.

The issue is democracy inside the union. Leader of the revolt is smart-thinking, hard-hitting, former Illinois Mine Workers district president Ray Edmondson who few illusions about his fight, knows that he probably won't win this time, is counting on dumping Lewis in the next two years by becoming the focal point of all opposition to Lewis.

Edmondson resigned as $8,000-a-year mine workers' district president last April, went back to digging coal in the Illinois mines rather than stand for Lewis' dictation. In past years, Lewis has been able to break, at least temporarily, every man who opposed him. These included John Brophy, now a top CIO official, who ran against Lewis in 1926 and claimed he was counted out in a crooked vote, also CIO president Philip Murray, ruthlessly purged by Lewis several years ago in a dramatic clash which wrecked a thirty-year friendship.

—DICTATORIAL TACTICS—

Lewis' brother Denny likes to sit back and tell how Lewis once won an election unanimously in a backward West Virginia district where strong opposition had developed.

"It was simple," Denny Lewis says. "John knew there was plenty of opposition. Therefore he had his boys print ballots with only his name on them. When the workers came to the booths to vote, our men would ask them, 'Are you for Lewis or against Lewis?'"

"Those who said they were for John were told to put an X beside his name. Those who opposed John were told to cross his name out. Naturally, we only counted the Xs and John won unanimously."

As a result of tactics like this, Lewis has manipulated the union so that every official, from the vice president down to the lowest employe of a local, is now directly responsible to Lewis and also appointed by him.

This is the crux of the current fight at the Cincinnati convention. At present, union members vote only for or against Lewis. They have no right to choose local officials, who represent them in bargaining with mine owners.

NOTE: Real reason why Edmondson won't get many votes at the Cincinnati convention is that Lewis pays all expenses of delegates, is in a position to discourage attendance by delegates unfriendly to him.

SCOUTING PLAN IS EXPLAINED

Bradford Delivers Talk At Meeting Of Kiwanians

Plans for the promotion of Scouting in the Upper Peninsula were outlined in an address given by S. N. Bradford, assistant Scout executive in the Red Buck district, at a meeting of the Kiwanis club at the Sherman hotel yesterday noon.

"First of all, we plan to provide more leadership for the boys," Bradford stated. "We also aim to stabilize the units now in operation, increase advancements to make the program more attractive, and then give attention to the growth of the organization."

The formation of new Scout troops, Bradford added, will not be started on any extensive scale until the existing troops are placed on sound basis. He explained there is much work to be done in Scouting since about seventy-five per cent of the boys of Scout age are not receiving the benefits of the program.

The Red Buck district is holding its own in the Upper Peninsula area. All together, there are 2100 registered Scouts in the entire region, and the Red Buck district has 283, or 19 per cent. In addition, Red Buck has 184 Cubs, 129 Scouters and 32 Cubbers, or a total of 728.

Bradford sketched briefly the organization of the Upper Peninsula area organization, which consists of five councils and is headed by R. L. Thompson, Scout executive, with offices in Marquette. Purpose of the consolidation, he explained, was to give better service.

Bradford returned Sunday night from the Scout training school held during the past week in Delafield, Wis.

him some sandwiches in a paper bag. He had just received them, and had them in his right hand, when a captain walked through the lobby. The soldier quickly stuck the bag behind him, fumbled with his rifle, and saluted snappily with his left hand.

"How long have you been in the Army?" the startled captain asked.

"Five months," said the soldier, "but I was drafted." (I don't know what that has to do with the story, but that's what the soldier said.)

"You certainly know after five months how to salute," said the captain. "Now salute me properly."

Whereupon the befuddled soldier shifted his rifle to his left hand, handed the captain the sack of sandwiches, saluted correctly with his right hand, and then reached out and relieved the captain of his burden.

The captain, sensing the futility of it all, just let the matter drop.

RIVERSIDE, Cal., March, 1942 —On the way out from Los Angeles I picked up a couple of soldier hitchhikers.

They turned out to be Midwestern boys, university graduates, who had enlisted before the draft could get them. They had been to Los Angeles on overnight leave. They were hoping they could find a nice place to dance, but they never did, and they were disappointed.

"We weren't looking for society girls, nor the other kind either," one of them said. "We just like to dance, and we thought maybe we could meet a couple of nice girls who work in stores or as secretaries."

But they didn't. They tried two or three taxi-dance places, but didn't like the types of girls. They wound up at a place which said "Reduced Rates for Men in Uniform." A dark stairs led up to a sad little bar in a gloomy room. One lone sailor was sitting at the bar, half asleep, and looking very lonesome among the girls of the place. So the boys gave up and started back to camp.

They told me a couple of things about the public. One was that in Los Angeles men in uniform are constantly being stopped by nice old ladies who are grateful to them for helping save the country. The old ladies don't want anything except just to express their appreciation. The boys seemed quite touched by it.

The other was that panhandlers continually play the soldiers for handouts. This turns the boys up. Making $21 a month, and then getting hit twice a block by panhandlers.

One of my soldiers said he gave one panhandler a little lecture on ethics. But it didn't faze the panhandler. He gave the soldier a cussing.

These two boys are probably typical of thousands of youngsters in the Army now. They are well educated, obviously from good families, and intelligent. And they find Army life tough, from the mental standpoint.

Some of the old-timers seem to take special delight in brow-beating anybody who has been to college. The boys can take it, but it dulls the keen edge of their enthusiasm for giving all they've got to the war. They don't see why recruits can't be trained on a basis of man-to-man decency. And yet, they think America is in the mess it's in now because PEACH COUNTRY—Six years ago Mrs. George Williams, 1123 First Avenue north, unearthed a sprouted peach stone in her garden; last week an Upper Peninsula peach crop was harvested from the resulting tree. Mrs. Williams planted the peach sprout in a can and kept it during the winter in the house where it grew about a foot and a half in height. Transplanted to the garden the following year the tree grew rapidly and this year produced its first crop. It was estimated by Mr. Williams that at least a bushel of fully developed tree ripened peaches were harvested. In his eagerness to accept a handout of the luscious fruit the Press photographer spoiled a close-up of one of the laden branches, so you see above only the tree.

Victory Over Japanese Will Not Be Easy Task

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington—Here is an antidote for over-optimism, or, for that matter, for optimism.

In the course of the battle of Saipan, several high-ranking Japanese officers were captured, thanks to a sudden and unexpected development. This has almost never happened before during two and a half years of Pacific warfare.

At least one of these officers talked to his captors. Throughout one night, American officers seated in a semi-circle in a cave questioned the Japanese via an American interpreter. Toward dawn he concluded with a warning that went like this:

"You are going to have to kill 80,000,000 Japanese if you take our homeland. Men, women and children will be armed. They will not be taken prisoner, neither the armed civilians nor the professional soldiers. If they are trapped, they will kill themselves."

Mothers Killed Children

This might have been put down to the Brazzaville of one of the children of the emperor, if it had not been for something else that had just happened on Saipan.

As vividly described by Robert Sherrod of Time magazine, who witnessed it, women, children and old men waded out into the surf and drowned themselves. Or they let their own blood. Mothers destroyed their children before doing away with themselves.

All this occurred with ceremonial flourishes in full view of marine detachments. How many civilian suicides occurred no one knows. There were approximately 20,000 non-combatants on the island before the attack.

Double-Barreled Cannon

The public square of Athens, Ga., has a double-barreled cannon, built during the Civil War and designed to shoot two balls simultaneously, with a chain connecting the balls. The chain was supposed to mow down the enemy.

There is only one excuse for telling Helen Conner's story

MY FATHER was born in Russia but he came to America years ago. With my brothers Al and Mike, I was brought up as a good American.

"When I was in my teens I met a handsome young Navy man at a Shriners' convention in San Francisco. His name was Bryan Conner. It was love at first sight—and you know the reputation of the Navy for action. Bryan proposed that night. He didn't know when we could marry because he had to get right back to his destroyer. But we weren't going to wait.

"I rented a motor boat, went out to the destroyer and talked to the captain. In five minutes Bryan was on his way back to shore and we were married.

"As time passed we had a fine baby boy. We named him William. By the time Bill was growing into young manhood my husband was assigned to recruiting service in Atlanta. He and Bill had great times hunting and fishing together. We were a happy family. My two brothers visited us often and we'd have the jolliest parties and picnics.

"Then the war started in Europe. Our son came to us one night and explained how he felt about it. He wanted to be prepared so he enlisted.

"Like any mother I hated him to leave home—but I couldn't stand in his way. Bill joined up.

"Pearl Harbor was more than my husband could take. He had lots of friends on the Arizona, the Utah, and other ships. He was 48 years old but he asked for active duty and he got it—on a PT boat in the South Pacific.

"My brothers got in too—Al in the Army, Mike in the Seabees. There they were—all four of them in it, my husband and brother Mike in the Pacific; my son and brother Al in Africa.

"I had to do something. So I went to welding school. After I finished school I taught welding. My thoughts were always with my husband, my son, and my brothers. I was working for them. I was living for their return. On June 30th of last year I opened this telegram:

The Secretary of War desires that I tender his deepest sympathy to you in the loss of your son. Report received states that he was killed in action on June 28th in the North African Theatre of War.

"Four days later, on the 4th of July, I got another message:

Deeply regret to inform you that your brother, Michael Zadorkin, was killed in action in performance of his duty and in the service of his country in the South Pacific on July 2, 1943.

"On July 8th I read:

The Secretary of War desires that I tender his deepest sympathy to you in the loss of your brother, Allan Zadorkin. Report received states he was killed in action on July 6th, 1943.

"Some time later I saw my husband. He was as shocked as I was about the death of our only son and my two brothers. But he was all the more determined to fight on.

"I remember seeing him off. It was at a submarine base in Florida. At two in the morning. There was a light mist over the harbor. I kissed my husband and he went aboard his PT boat. I watched him as long as I could see him waving good-bye.

"It wasn't many weeks later that I opened a final message:

Deeply regret to inform you your husband, William Jennings Bryan Conner was killed in action in performance of his duty and in the service of his country.

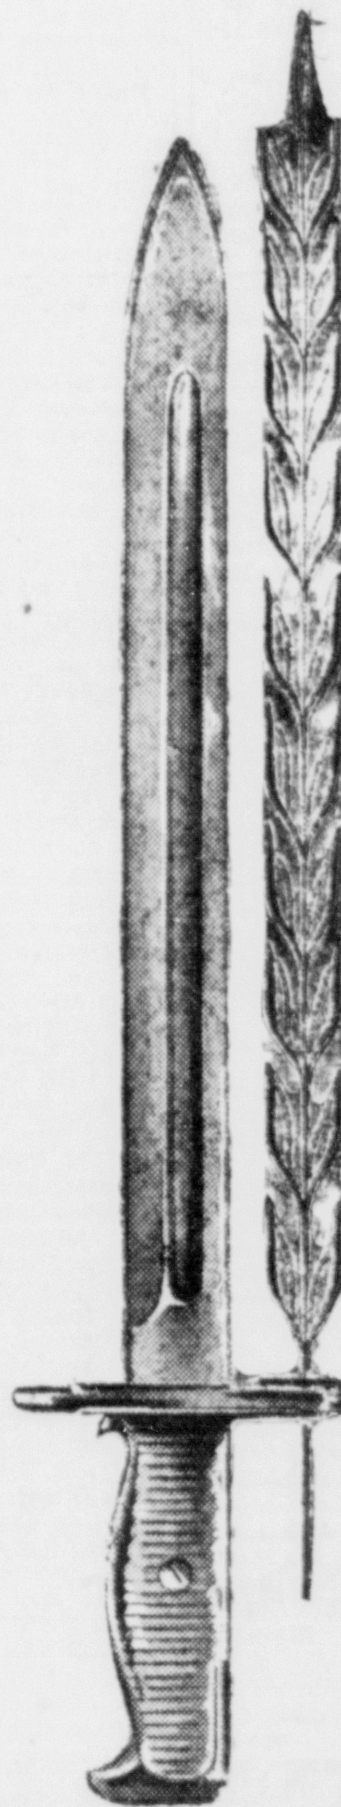

"I am not asking for pity. Not even sympathy. My men died the way they would have liked to die—fighting. We must carry on their fight.

"I won't be meeting my boy or my husband or my brothers again, but I want to see to it that other women get their men back.

"The last thing my husband wrote me was: 'Keep up the good work at the bomber plant.' That's what I am doing . . . welding and riveting. And I'm going to keep on doing it as long as I can stand on my two feet. I am going to stay at my job. I am going to buy War Bonds. I'm not licked and I never will be. I'm going to live to see that day—that great day—when our enemies are made to pay in full for the lives they have taken away from all of us."

That is Helen Conner's story. Her tragedy is made public here only because it makes this fact crystal-clear: a war can be won only by sacrifice.

Buying War Bonds may call for sacrifice on our part. But when our sacrifice is compared to that of Helen Conner or her men, doesn't it make you feel that putting every last cent into War Bonds is really little enough to do? See if you can't buy another Bond—today.

NO HISS DOES NOT MEAN
NO VACUUM

Coffee in glass jars is vacuum-packed just as it was in cans

In pre-war days it was a mighty pleasant experience to open a can of vacuum-packed coffee. There was a hissing sound as the seal was broken, and a sudden burst of fragrant coffee aroma.

In opening a vacuum-packed jar of coffee, there is seldom a "hiss" and the abundant aroma of coffee is often missed. However, this does not mean that the coffee is not vacuum-packed or that the jar is faulty. What happens is this. In starting to open a vacuum can, the first turn of the key breaks the seal making just a pin-point hole, before the metal strip is wound off. The pressure of "coffee-gas" through this small hole produces the "hiss" and the concentration of coffee aroma. When the cap is removed from a glass jar, however, coffee-gas is released around the entire rim of the jar at one time. Consequently, the pressure is not usually sufficient at any one point to produce a "hiss" and the pronounced "jet" of aroma.

Vacuum-packing of coffee in cans was originated by Hills Bros. in 1900. When wartime demands for tin and steel made it necessary to give up metal containers, Hills Bros. adopted glass jars for vacuum-packing their coffee to keep it fresh.

Users of Hills Bros. Coffee can rest assured that there is no change in its quality. It is still a blend of the finest coffees obtainable and the vacuum-pack protects its freshness even though there is no "hiss" when the cap is removed.

Bark River Girl
Bride, Wedding
Held In Chicago

Miss Stephanie Pokladowski, daughter of Mrs. Sophie Pokladowski of Bark River, became the bride of Joseph Durlak, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hillary Durlak, of Chicago, at a ceremony which took place Sunday afternoon, September 3, at two o'clock in St. James' church in Chicago.

The service was solemnized by Rev. Fr. Urbanski and Rev. Fr. Przybylski.

The bride was attended by Miss Virginia Smolie, as maid of honor, and Miss Frances Lija, who was bridesmaid, and Stanley Pokladowski, brother of the bride, was best man.

The bride wore a gown of white satin, with a fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline, and a full skirt with a train. Her full-length veil was held in place by a halo of orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of orchids and gardenias. Her attendants were gowned alike in models of white net over taffeta, with which they wore pink headresses, and they carried pink roses.

Mrs. Pokladowski, mother of the bride, wore a blue print with white accessories and the bridegroom's mother wore powder blue with white accessories. Both mothers had corsages of gardenias and pink roses.

Reception and Dinner
A reception for 175 guests, including relatives and friends, of East Chicago, Detroit, Milwaukee,

Racine and Bark River, was held at the Patria hall, and the wedding dinner was served there. A three-tiered cake with a top ornament formed of a tiny bridal couple and lilies of the valley, centered the bridal table.

Following a honeymoon during which they visited with the bride's family in Bark River, Mr. and Mrs. Durlak are now at home at 2418 Linder avenue in Chicago. The bride is employed by the Western Electric in Cicero, and the bridegroom, by the Zenith Radio, in Chicago.

Today's Recipes

Another excellent recipe for "Pie Apple" has been received from Mrs. Jhillip Perron of 305 South Twelfth street.

Cold Packed Pie Apple
Select a hard apple. Wash, pare and cut apples, dropping them immediately into salt bath (one tablespoon salt to one quart water) so apples don't darken. Pack tight into jars, fill with syrup of one part sugar to one part water. Partially seal and process in hot water bath 20 minutes. Seal.

Mrs. Perron uses this recipe every year and has delicious apples for pie throughout the winter months.

Roger Smith Finds
Pearl But Too Late

Roger Smith, local Soo Line employee, found a pearl in a can of oysters, only he found it after he had cooked the oysters and the boiling in milk rendered the pearl valueless. The pearl was about the size of a small pea and he reports it would have had considerable value, if it had been found before being subjected to heat.

PLANS LAID FOR SAFETY DRIVELocal Police Officers
Attend Meeting At Marquette

Encouraged by the brake testing campaign earlier in the year, state police and representatives of other law enforcement agencies gathered in Marquette Friday to lay plans for the pedestrian protection campaign which will begin October 15 and last through November 31. Representing Manistique were local Police Chief Elmer Anderson and commander of the state police post, Cpl. Kenneth White.

This concentration will center around more strict enforcement of laws governing relations between the driver and the pedestrian and the testing of all safety equipment on all cars stopped for any reason. Leaflets will also be passed out to both pedestrians and motorists who are corrected.

A report of all traffic accidents for the first six months of this year shows that 207 pedestrians have been killed as a result of motor vehicle accidents. This figure represents 42 per cent of the total number of traffic deaths for the period.

A special study showed that 35 per cent of the pedestrian deaths occurred in rural areas and 65 per cent in urban areas. Three out of four pedestrian fatalities occurred during hours of darkness. It has been found that dim or defective lights are the chief cause of the mishaps.

The report shows that 62 per cent of the daylight fatalities are accounted for by children from 6 to 10 years of age. Adults 35 years of age and over account for 81 per cent of the night accidents.

Other figures given by the report show that in rural areas, pedestrians are responsible for two thirds of the accidents. They are either breaking the law or committing unsafe acts. Such actions are: not watching while crossing non-signalized intersections, crossing in the middle of the block and entering the street from behind parked cars, and walking in roadway.

"Young drivers appear to be involved in more than their share of pedestrian fatal accidents," the report stated.

Of all drivers so involved, 14 per cent were under the age of 20. All drivers involved in fatalities but one had had at least one year of driving experience.

Another fact that substantiates the idea that pedestrians are often to blame for accidents is that only one-third of the drivers were committing violations. Three chief violations of drivers are driving at excessive speeds, improper passing and driving under the influence of alcohol.

LIEUT. WOOD
IS WOUNDEDWar Department Wires
Parents His Wounds
Serious

Second Lieut. Leon M. Wood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar J. Wood of 627 Arbutus avenue, was seriously wounded in France August 26, the parents were notified by the war department Saturday. Wood, who enlisted in 1942 with the tank corps, was sent to England in May of this year. There he transferred to a reconnaissance group with which he went to France about a month ago.

In a letter on August 12 to his parents, Wood said that he had been so busy since he and his company landed in France that that was the first time in two weeks that he had had time to write. He told them that food was not too scarce and that the soldiers were exchanging cigarettes and candy for potatoes, milk and eggs.

The artillery fire was extremely heavy, he went on, and despite the fact that the Allies were shelling French villages, they were being warmly received.

Hot American League Pennant Race Cools Its Heels Until Friday

PACKERS BEAT BOSTON YANKS

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 10 — The Boston Yank's heralded Q-T formation held no secrets for the precision built Green Bay Packers in today's Buffalo football inaugural before 17,372 customers in Civic Stadium.

The Packers turned on just enough heat to win, 28 to 0, without showing a thing to the football scouts from rival pro clubs.

Two blocked kicks meant two touchdowns in the first period. Big Joe Mason got in front of George Cafaro's first kicking effort and Abe Schwammell recovered on the 30. The first time the Packers got hold of the ball for an offensive effort, Irv Comp ran back 12 yards and flipped a touchdown pass to Harry Jancuski, who made a spectacular catch. Bobby Ray intercepted a pass to set up a field goal attempt by Don Hutson, but it failed. So Ray came right back two minutes later and scooped up Pete Tinsley's block of Twenty Grand Davis' punt on the 7 and took three steps for a touchdown. Boston's formation apparently became a secret to even the Yank backs in the second quarter and a center pass went squirming right through them to the 13-yard line, where Mark Hammel recovered for the Packers. Lou Brock hit Duhart with a pass on the five and Duhart hit tackle for a score in two plays. Irv Comp reeled off a sensational 87-yard runback with Augie Lio's kickoff to launch the second half. Brock faded back and pitched a touchdown pass 16 yards into Comp's waiting arms.

The Sports Parade

By Ken Gunderman

Official interest in interscholastic baseball is perking up, raising the possibility that some effort may be made next spring to institute the sport in several upper peninsula high schools. The interest among high school sports leaders has not reached the point where they are actually planning schedules or anything like that, but the interest, nevertheless, appears genuine. Officials who have indicated interest in interscholastic baseball include representatives of Manistique, Stephenson, Menominee and Escanaba. It may be presumed that Gladstone, Iron Mountain and Kingsford also would give consideration to interscholastic baseball if sufficient interest develops from other schools.

The Detroit Tigers reached the top of the American league standings Sunday after winning the first game of a twin bill with Cleveland, while the Yankees were losing to Boston. It climaxed a long hard climb for the Tigers, but they dropped back into second place before the day was over when they dropped the nightcap to the Indians while the Yankees were winning from Boston in the second game of their doubleheader. The St. Louis Browns also divided a twin bill so the standings at the close of the day remained the same as they were before the day's heavy baseball program started.

Don Hutson, the great Packer star of past years, is supposed to be all through as an active big league football player, so there naturally was some surprise when Hutson played in the exhibition game Sunday against the Boston Yanks, the Packers winning 28-0. Hutson went into the game for placekicking points after touchdowns—all four of them, and to attempt a field goal that failed. If the Packers have included Hutson's name in their active player list, it may be assumed that the great pass snatcher will be used in the lineup occasionally, particularly if he is needed in a hot pennant race.

The talk in big league football circles is that Green Bay will eventually have to yield its franchise in the National pro league. Pro football has become big time stuff, the arguments go, and Green Bay just cannot meet the attendance potentialities of larger cities. Crowds of 50,000 are not uncommon at the pro games in the big cities, while attendance at Green Bay must necessarily be restricted to much less than half of this figure. The development of the new league, the American professional league, will force the hand of the National league in chasing the Packer franchise out of Green Bay, it is rumored. One story is that the Packer franchise will end up in Los Angeles, where football fans have long yelled for a place in the big time pro organization.

Hit and Miss—Politicians can take a tip from Greasy Neale, coach of the Philadelphia Eagles, who cut his salary from $12,000 to $3,000 a year because he felt that he cannot produce a winning team this year. Ironwood made 10 first downs to six for Calumet last Friday night, but Calumet gained 140 yards on running plays to 124 for Ironwood. The payoff, of course, was the score—Ironwood 14, Calumet 0. Jug Girard is on the Wisconsin first team this fall and bears promise of being one of the sensations of the season.

SOO IS TOUGH, SAYS RUWITCH

Starting Lineup For Eskymos Still Is Undecided

Coach George Ruwitch, who watched the Soo Blue Devils trim Newberry, last Saturday, reported yesterday that the Eskymos will have plenty of trouble with the Lock City team in the season's football opener here next Saturday afternoon.

Coach Ruwitch reported that the Soo team displayed a lot of potential power against the Indians and might have added a couple more touchdowns to their 20-0 victory if they had not lost several scoring opportunities through penalties.

With the opening game only five days off, the Eskymos starting lineup still is unsettled, Ruwitch reported, and the decisions will probably not be made until it is determined how the various candidates show up in the next few days.

Scott is regarded as a sure starter at center, but most of the other positions are wide open. Boyle, Chapkis, Corbett, Pearson and Houle all are rated even for the guard positions. Finn, Wehr, Wylie and Dufresne are the leading candidates for tackle berths. Hirt, Dufour, Goyermac and Henderson are battling for the end assignments. Jack Schils, McDonald and Roger Peterson are fighting for the fullback job and the halfbacks will be selected from a group consisting of Bill Peterson, McRae, Jim Ross and Schelmer. Don Wickholm, who played guard and tackle positions last season, has been shifted to quarterback and has the edge on the starting assignment for this berth over Finnegan. Yesterday afternoon the Eskymos devoted a lot of time to punt formations, protecting the kicker, etc., and then reversed the procedure for an extended drill on receiving punts.

Bark River Will Honor Baseball Team Tonight

Bark River, which has had a community baseball team continuously since 1910, will pay tribute to its 1944 county league championship team tonight in a recognition banquet at the Hotel Park. The members of the league titleholders will be guests of the Bark River Lions club.

When the Bark River team defeated the Escanaba All-Stars in the county league championship game recently, the club climaxed one of its most successful seasons. While other communities abandoned baseball because of manpower shortages and because they were just too busy to promote a ball club, Bark River residents, certainly just as busy as other folks, continued to produce winning ball clubs, the war not withstanding.

Prospective Tiger Pitchers Reported As War Casualties

Detroit, Sept. 11 (P)—The Detroit Tigers received word today that one of their pitching prospects was missing in France and that another former farm hand had been wounded in action on the same front.
Missing was Joe Mocer, 20, of Detroit, who was on the reserve list of the Buffalo club. Mocer formerly played with Muskegon in the Michigan State League and with Winston-Salem in the Piedmont League.
Wounded was Dave Latter of Leslie, Mich., who was on the Beaumont club's list. He was shot in the leg.

a Bark River of abandoning baseball for the duration, primarily because of the apparent lack of competition, but it was decided to go ahead with plans for a team as usual. The initiative in this endeavor came primarily from the youngsters of the community.

This year the Lions club of Bark River added their support to the ball club, not merely moral support but financial backing, as well. The team played several games with teams from surrounding areas before the Delta county league was organized and then joined the county league. They won seven out of 19 games, four out of six in the hot county league race.

Bark River is justly proud of its baseball park, located adjoining the highway US-241. Many motorists stop in to watch the games there during the summer. Some of the regular customers are from Escanaba, baseball fans who turned to Bark River for their diamond dish when baseball hit the skids in this community. Baseball in Bark River is financed by free-will offerings at the team's home games. The fans are loyal and generous and collections always have been sufficient to meet all of the team's needs. The manager of the 1944 county champions is Ben Douglas. Members of the squad who will be honored tonight at the recognition banquet and who will receive individual awards are: H. Koslowski, G. Demars, R. Douglas, B. Bergstrom, Edgar Larson, D. Bergman, L. Derocier, J. Johnson, Lloyd Olson, M. Teal, S. McGinnis, Ben Johnson, S. Meyers, Ed LeBeau, J. Anderson and Don Lewis.

Versatile Ray Mueller Is Sparkplug Of Reds' Victory

Chicago, Sept. 11 (P)—Ray Mueller, Cincinnati's versatile as well as durable catcher, drove in four of the Red's first five runs with a triple and double today and then singled and scored the winning run on Eddie Miller's fly in the tenth inning as the Reds took the opener of a series from the Chicago Cubs, 6 to 5. Clyde Shoun won his 12th game.

Coach Jimmy Wilson of the Reds, acting manager in the absence of Bill McKechnie, was banished from the field by Umpire Jocko Conlan when he charged in from the third base box for a heated discussion on a strike called on Steve Mesner in the eighth inning.

A new venture in golf tournaments will take place at the Escanaba Country club next Sunday when it is planned to hold a Delta county championship match between the current champions of the three clubs in the district.

Competing for honors will be Elmer Swanson, Jr., champion of the country club; John Cass, representing the Highland club; and William S. Skellenger, who led the field in the recent Gladstone tournament.

An admission fee will be collected from spectators, with the proceeds going to the Red Cross. The contest, which gets under way about two o'clock, will be open to the public.

ONLY 18 GAMES LEFT FOR TIGES

Yanks' Wednesday Night Tilt Breaks Monotony Of Idle Week

BY JACK HAND
New York, Sept. 11 (P)—Due to a slight case of nightmare in the schedule department, the hottest American League pennant race in years will cool its heels until Friday with only a Yanks' Wednesday night game in Philadelphia to break the monotony. Counting on weather trouble in April and May, the chart makers provided a September calendar shot full of holes for postponed games but the torrid, dry summer failed to cooperate with washouts. The result is that New York, St. Louis and Boston each will play 17 games and Detroit 18 in the next three weeks before the curtain drops on October 1.

Detroit, only a half game behind the Yanks, probably will gain the most by this enforced layoff as the Tigers have been leaning heavily on Hal Newhouser and Dizzy Trout with periodic relief from Ruff Gentry and Stubby Overmire. After a four-game weekend series in Cleveland, the Bengals will return to Briggs Stadium for the rest of the campaign.

Browns Welcome Rest
Luke Sewell's Browns, in and out of first all season, welcome additional rest to allow their battered pitching ranks to recover. Bob Munchie stopped back into a starting role in a well-pitched six-inning stint Friday but can use the four-day layoff. Sig Jakucki has failed to go the route in his last three outings.

New York's drive to the front may not find the mid-September "vacation" to its liking as Joe McCarthy has his pitching situation straightened out, rotating around four regular starters in Hank Borowy, Ernie Bonham, Walt Dubiel and Mel Queen. Boston stopped the Yankees' mad rush by dividing a weekend series and the champs fear they may lose their drive before the all-important final western tour.

A pennant will be the reward for the club with the best record in the final interseasonal series, opening Sept. 19 as none of the contenders can pile up a safe lead in the intervening period. In addition to Detroit's four games with Cleveland, St. Louis plays four with Chicago, New York three with Philadelphia and Boston three at Washington. The Red Sox have finished their home schedule and the Browns will play no more on the road.

Fox Of Red Sox Tops Loop Batting

Chicago, Sept. 11 (P)—Ervin "Pete" Fox, veteran Red Sox outfielder, took over the American League batting leadership for the week ending September 10, with a .327 mark, displacing his teammate, Bobby Doerr, who left for the armed forces after leading the circuit since mid-July.

The now-absent Doerr shared second place, at .325, with another beantown slugger, Bob Johnson, while New York's George "Snuffy" Stirrweiss held down fourth spot with a .318 average.

Following the top four were Lou Boudreau of Cleveland, .317; Dick Siebert of Philadelphia, .312; Milt Byrnes of St. Louis, .308; Frank "Pinky" Higgins of Detroit and Bobby Estalella of Philadelphia, each with .304; and Verne Stephens of St. Louis, an even .300.

Stirrweiss established domination in most of the specialized departments. The fleet Yankee infielder had the most runs scored with 118, the most hits with 183, most three-base hits with 15 and most stolen bases with 51.

Boudreau's 38 doubles led that division while the Yankees' Nick Etten topped the home run section with 19 four-batters. Stephens' total of 93 runs batted in led that department.

Hal Newhouser, Detroit southpaw whose arm is keeping the Tigers in the hot pennant race, had a 24-8 record for top hurling honors and had fanned the most enemy batsmen, 146.

It's the extra leaf that does it

It never gets a smile from Lady Luck—because the 3-leaf clover is a commoner. But—give it another leaf and you've got something. It's the fourth leaf—the extra leaf that makes it a lucky find.

And it's the "extra" that makes IMPERIAL an out-of-the-ordinary whiskey—its extra smoothness, its extra goodness. Like the 4-leaf clover, this grand blend is a lucky find—taste the difference.

Potato Growers Hold Meeting In Escanaba

Fifty-six representative potato growers from Delta, Dickinson, Schoolcraft, Menominee and Alger counties were guests of the Michigan Potato Growers exchange at its district sixth annual get together dinner meeting held last night in the Delta hotel.

Attending as representatives of the exchange were Fred Hibst, general manager; Harvey Houston, sales manager; Harry Reiley, certified seed manager, all of Cadillac; C. H. Chapman, Detroit, of the Chapman Advertising company; C. L. Nash, economic specialist; and H. C. Moore, potato specialist from Michigan State college at East Lansing, and D. L. Clananah, U. P. crop specialist, Marquette.

Emphasizing that the current market trend is toward quality medium to small potatoes, Mr. Moore advised potato growers on the methods of producing this type of stock. The practice of planting whole seed, not cut, is rapidly gaining favor, Mr. Moore said, and this policy in addition to producing a better stand of medium to small tubers, has a tendency to reduce plant disease regardless of weather conditions at planting time.

Should Raise Seed

Farmers were advised their best protection against disease is to have their own certified seed, to allocate the best part of their field to this portion of their crop and to isolate it as much as possible. Planting too close to brush or woods or weeds, he declared, increases the chance of damage from insects and pests. Extra spraying also is important, with an application every seven or eight days.

When the seed plants are four to five inches high the process of "rogueing" should be carried out at once. All plants which appear to be below standard or which are being suspected of being inferior should be pulled up. As potato acreage increases, Mr. Moore said, natural enemies increase, and farmers were cautioned to be on guard constantly to avoid loss of yield or quality through insects and diseases.

A federal crop estimate just released placed the 1944 crop of potatoes at 377 million bushels, Harvey Houston, exchange sales manager, told the farmers. Michigan is expected to produce 14,875 bushels. The national estimate, he said, is slightly over the 19 year average of 362 million bushels but little difficulty is anticipated in marketing the entire crop. The October price for potatoes, inspected, graded, bagged and loaded in cars ready for shipment, will be $2 to $2.35 per hundred pounds, with the price scaling upward somewhat in succeeding months.

Closing 26th Year

Opening the meeting following dinner, Fred Hibst, general manager, remarked that in closing its 26th year the exchange is the only one still in business among those operating at the time the exchange organized. Championing the cause of the Michigan grower and marketing exclusively Michigan potatoes, the exchange, Mr. Hibst said, has become the largest shipper of certified seed in the state.

The consumer package was introduced by this organization and the 15 to 50 pound bags have found a ready consumer market. Marketing the crop in as many as 30 different states, the exchange caters especially to clubs, hotels and institutions.

C. H. Chapman of the Chapman Advertising Co., Detroit, outlined a plan for an advertising campaign designed to increase the market for potatoes.

To close the meeting a question and answer forum was conducted, during which problems brought forward by the growers were discussed.
